

Every minute Philip Morris brands are out of stock, you're losing sales.

In 1975, Philip Morris' unit sales increased by 8.2 billion cigarettes—more growth than the rest of the industry combined.

Increases like this mean that Philip Morris brands are holding their old friends and adding new ones every day.

And that, in turn, means that if those loyal smokers don't see Philip Morris brands in your machines, you'll be losing sales and profits that somebody else will make.

Check your lead lines, especially 100mm ones. Be sure the correct Philip Morris brands are represented in your machines.

5-Year Report: Philip Morris is the only company with gains in both unit sales and market share for each of the past five years.
